Brett Smith, Chef

Originally from Wappingers Falls, NY Chef Brett Smith developed an interest in cooking while working at a deli in high school. Shortly after moving to Boulder in 1994, he began working as a line cook in local restaurants.

His interest in food grew into a passion, and a career when Brett took a job at Jax Fish House Boulder in 1996. Working and learning under Chef Chris Blackwood, he was promoted to Sous Chef in 1998. In 2000 Brett moved over to Zolo Southwestern Grill as Sous Chef and a few months later became Executive Chef. With a year under his belt, he felt the need to broaden his horizons and knowledge of food. After traveling throughout the U.S. Brett had a 4 year run as Executive Chef at ZoZo's Ristorante on St. John, US Virgin Islands.

In September 2008, Brett and his wife Meagan settled their family back in Boulder. Thrilled to return to Zolo, he looks forward to creating modern Southwestern cuisine and being active in the community. On his limited time off, you can find Brett chasing after his two young children, Ryleigh and Christopher.
